
The Adventures of Aubree
and Lumi

For Aubree

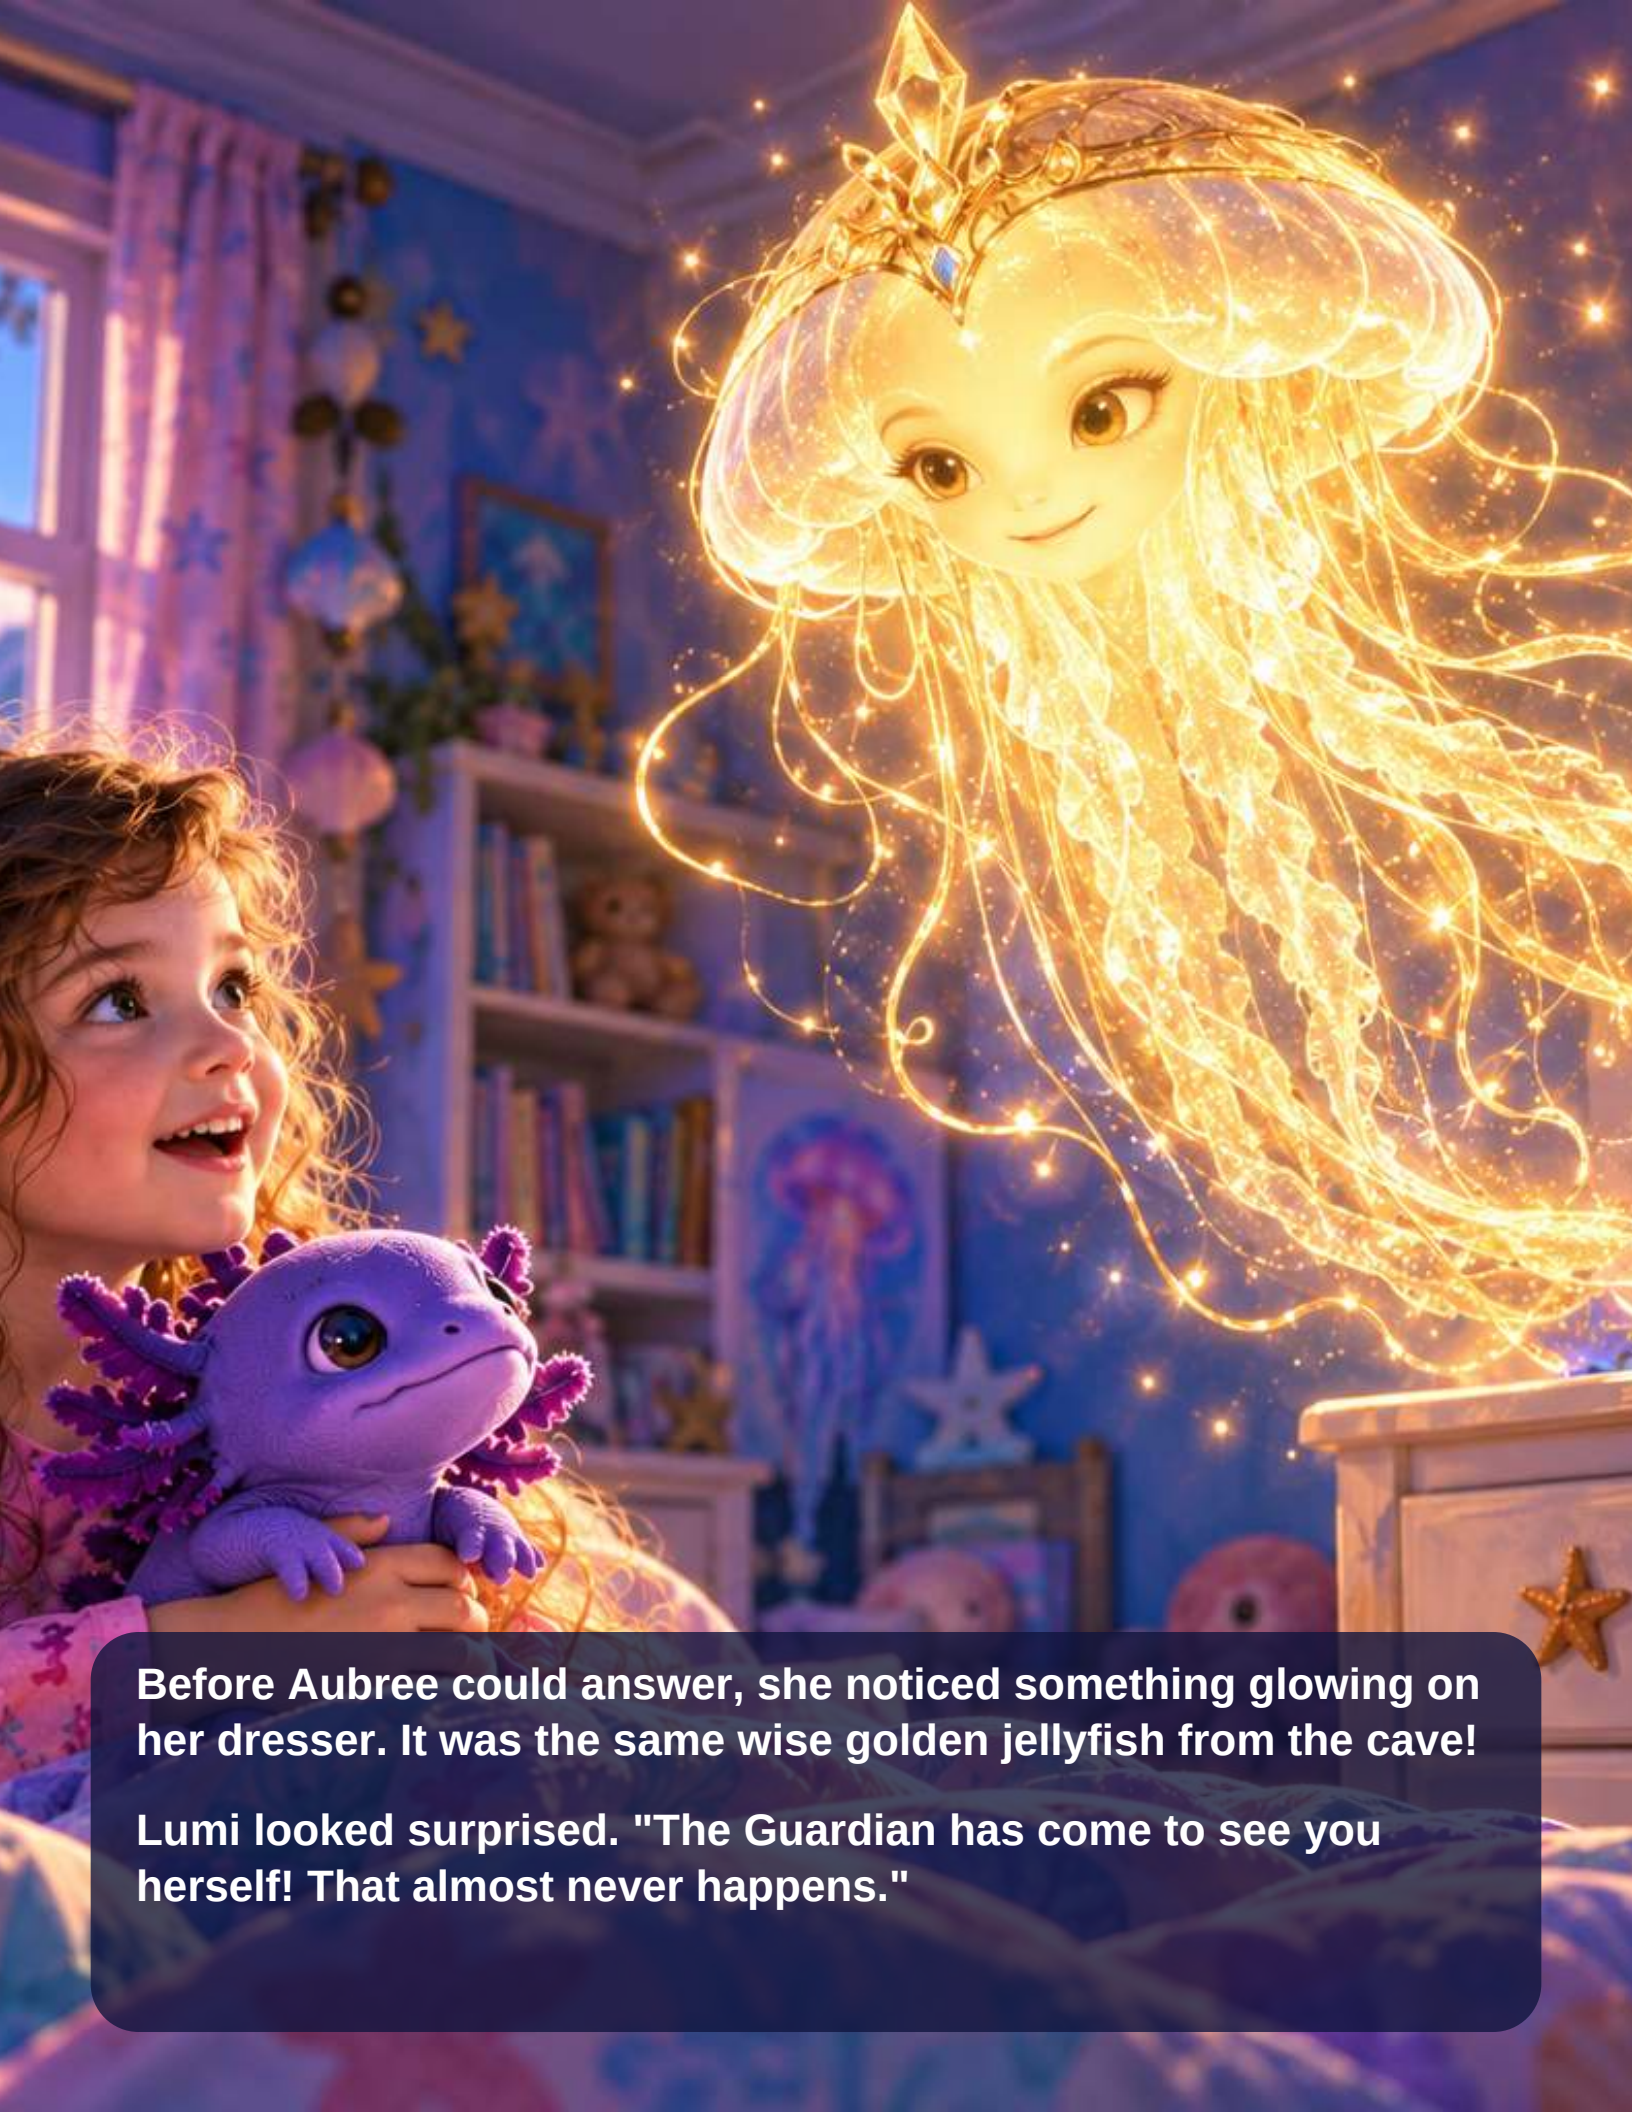

May you always stay curious, brave, kind, and ready for the next adventure.

With all my love, Grandpa

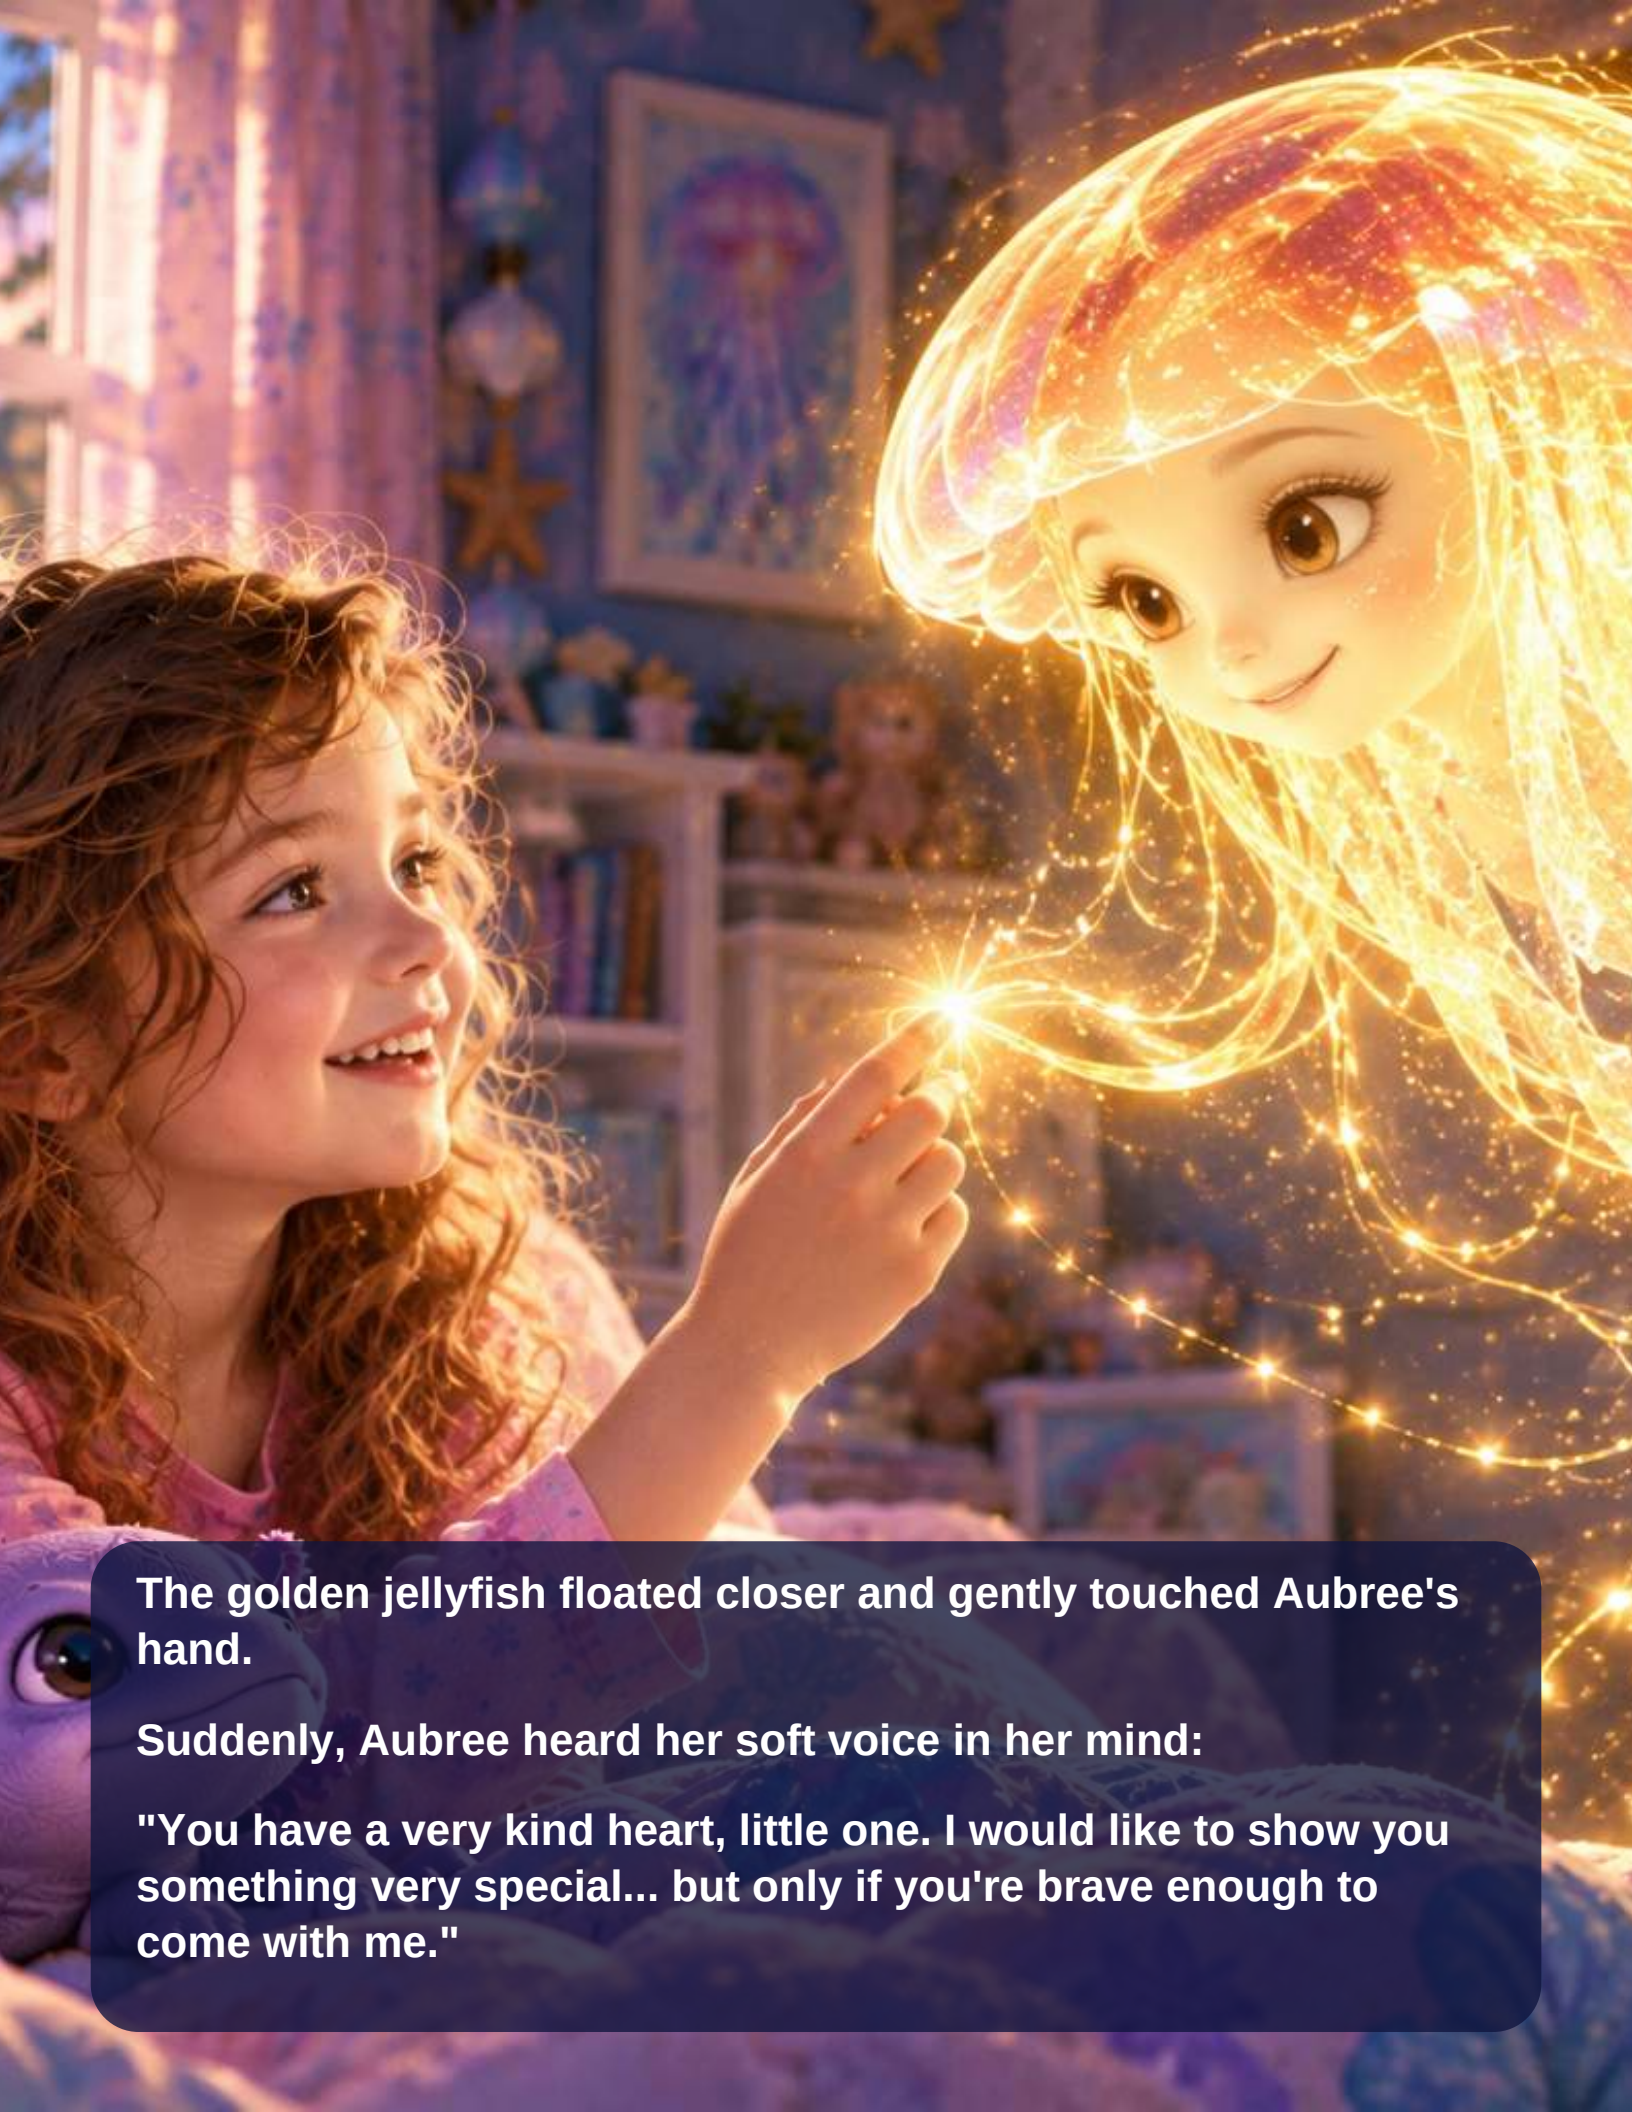

The next morning, Aubree woke up excited to see Lumi again. She picked up her little purple friend and whispered her name three times.

Lumi's eyes glowed brightly. "Good morning, Aubree! Are you ready for another adventure?"

Before Aubree could answer, she noticed something glowing on her dresser. It was the same wise golden jellyfish from the cave!

Lumi looked surprised. "The Guardian has come to see you herself! That almost never happens."

The golden jellyfish floated closer and gently touched Aubree's hand.

Suddenly, Aubree heard her soft voice in her mind:

"You have a very kind heart, little one. I would like to show you something very special... but only if you're brave enough to come with me."

Lumi explained that the Guardian wanted to take Aubree somewhere important.

But Aubree could also return to the glowing caves and play with her jellyfish friends.

Aubree thought for a moment. "I want to go back to the jellyfish friends instead."

Lumi smiled. "Alright then! Back to the glowing caves we go!"

The Guardian gave a gentle pulse of golden light, as if to say, "Maybe next time."

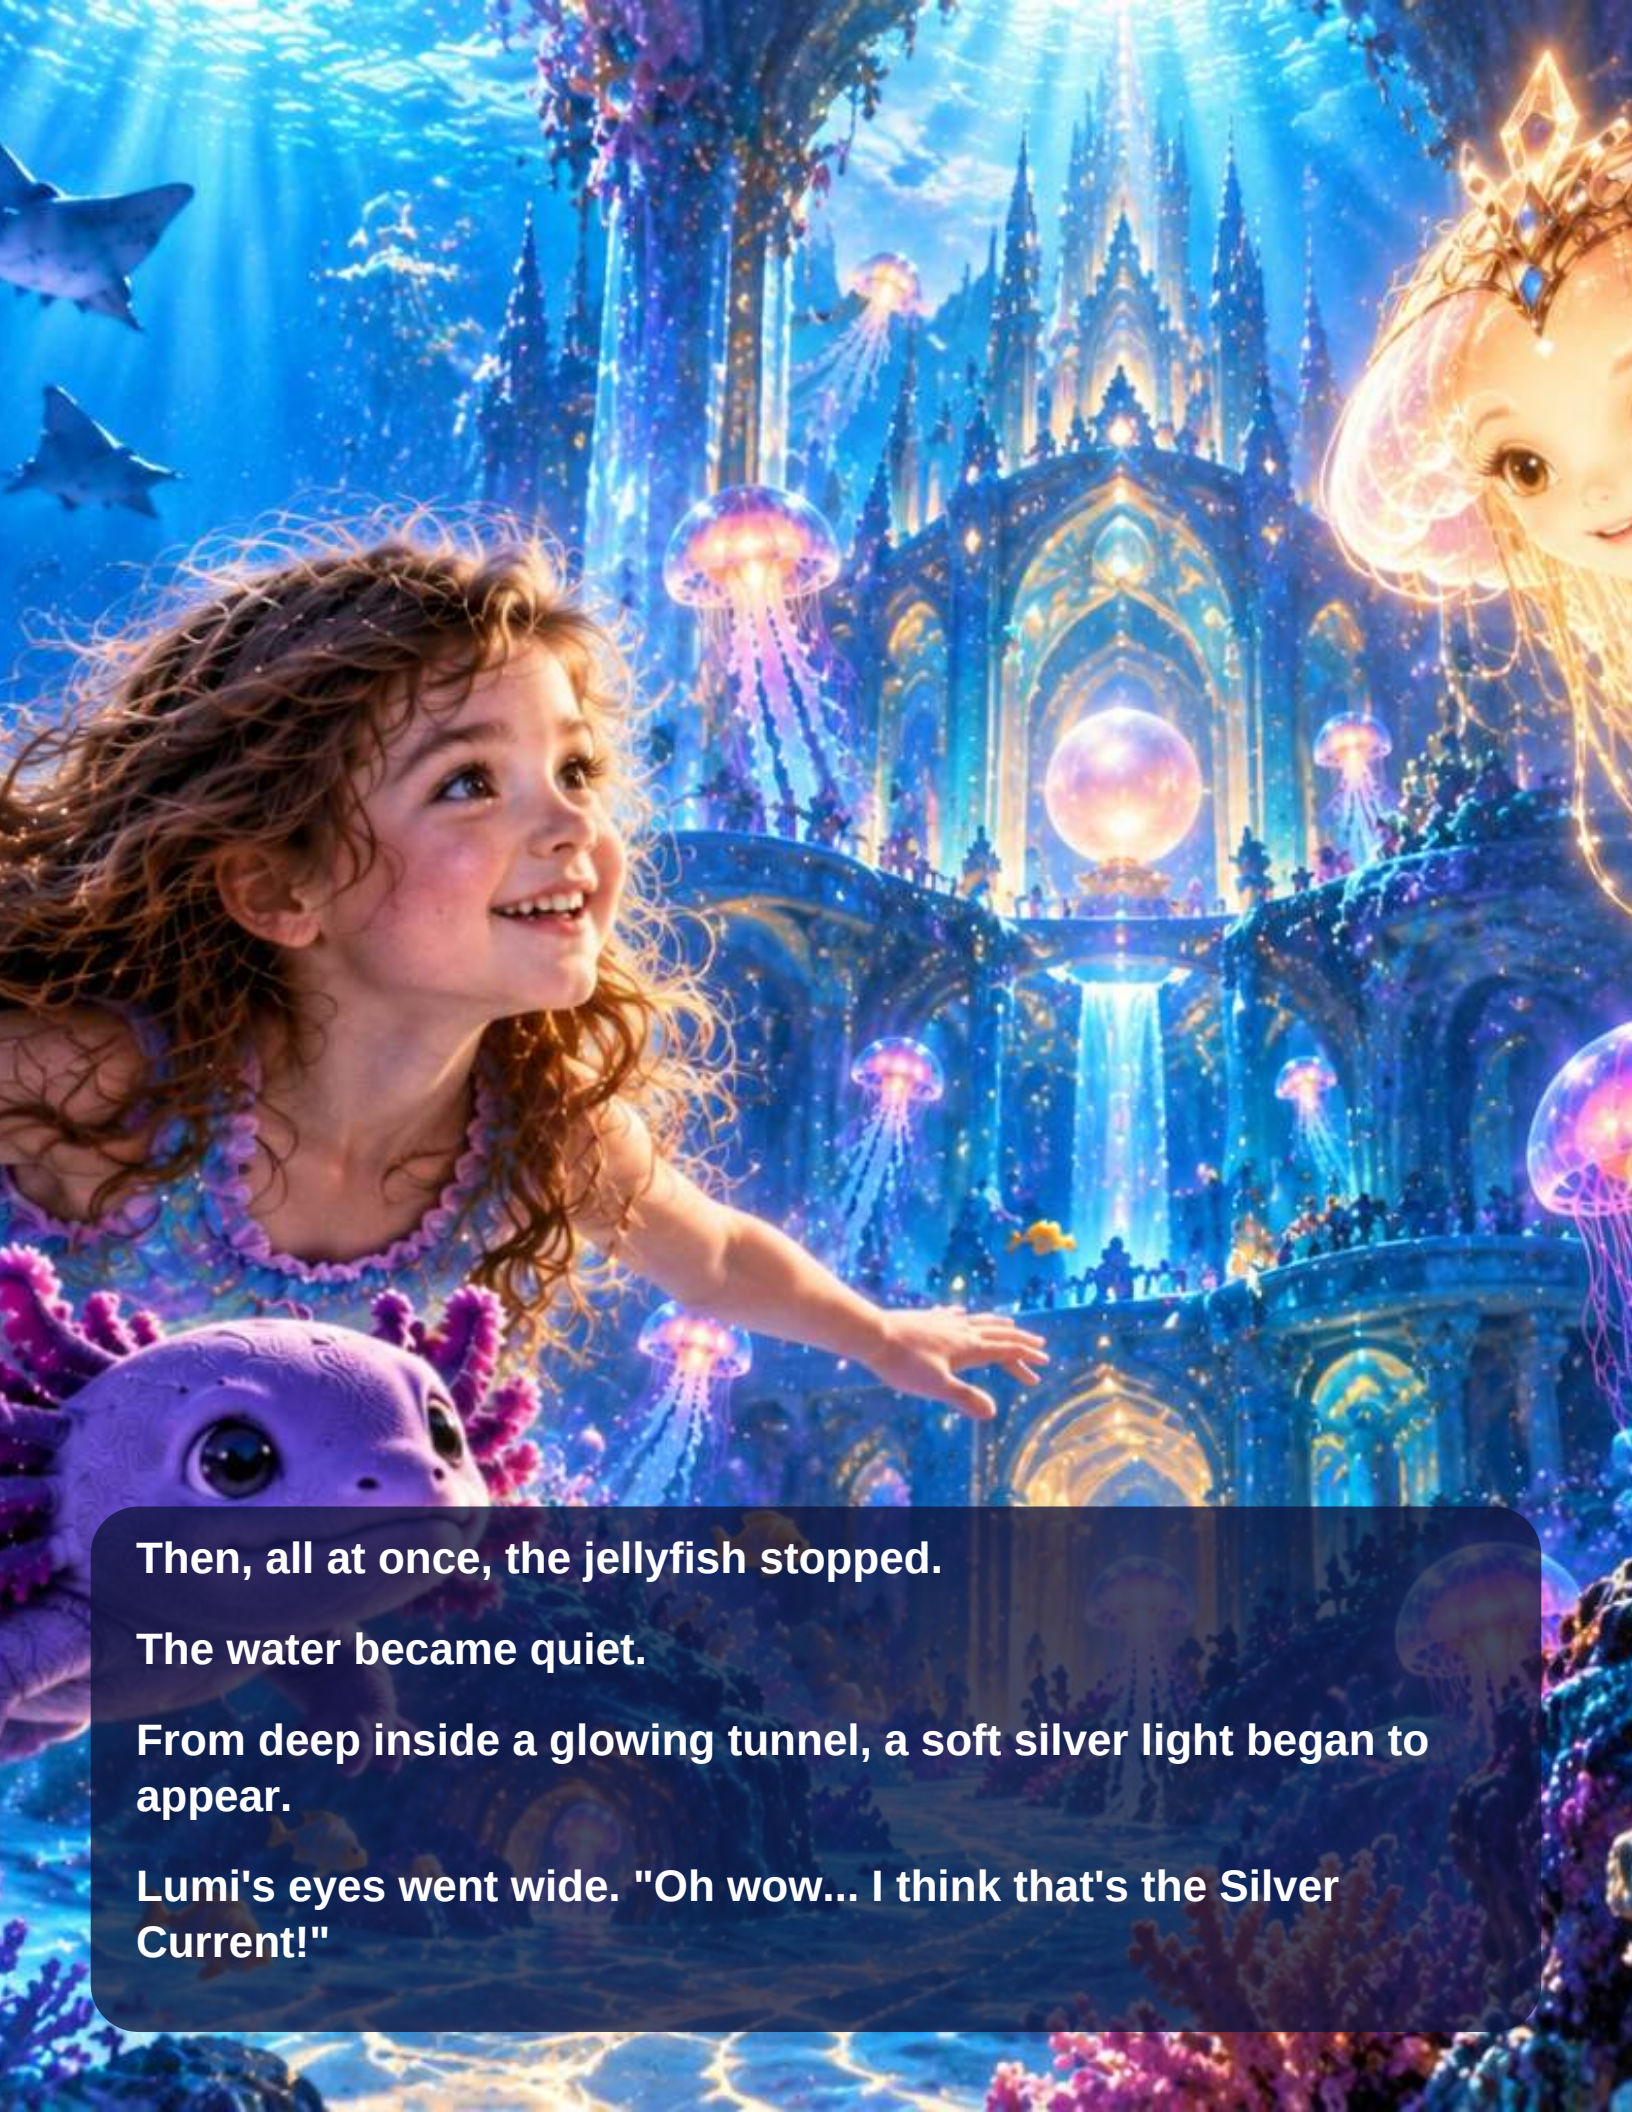

Then Lumi took Aubree's hand and together they headed back toward their friends.

The glowing caves were even more beautiful than Aubree remembered.

Jellyfish swirled around her in bright spirals of pink, blue and green.

A tiny orange jellyfish named Spark kept booping Aubree's arm, wanting to play.

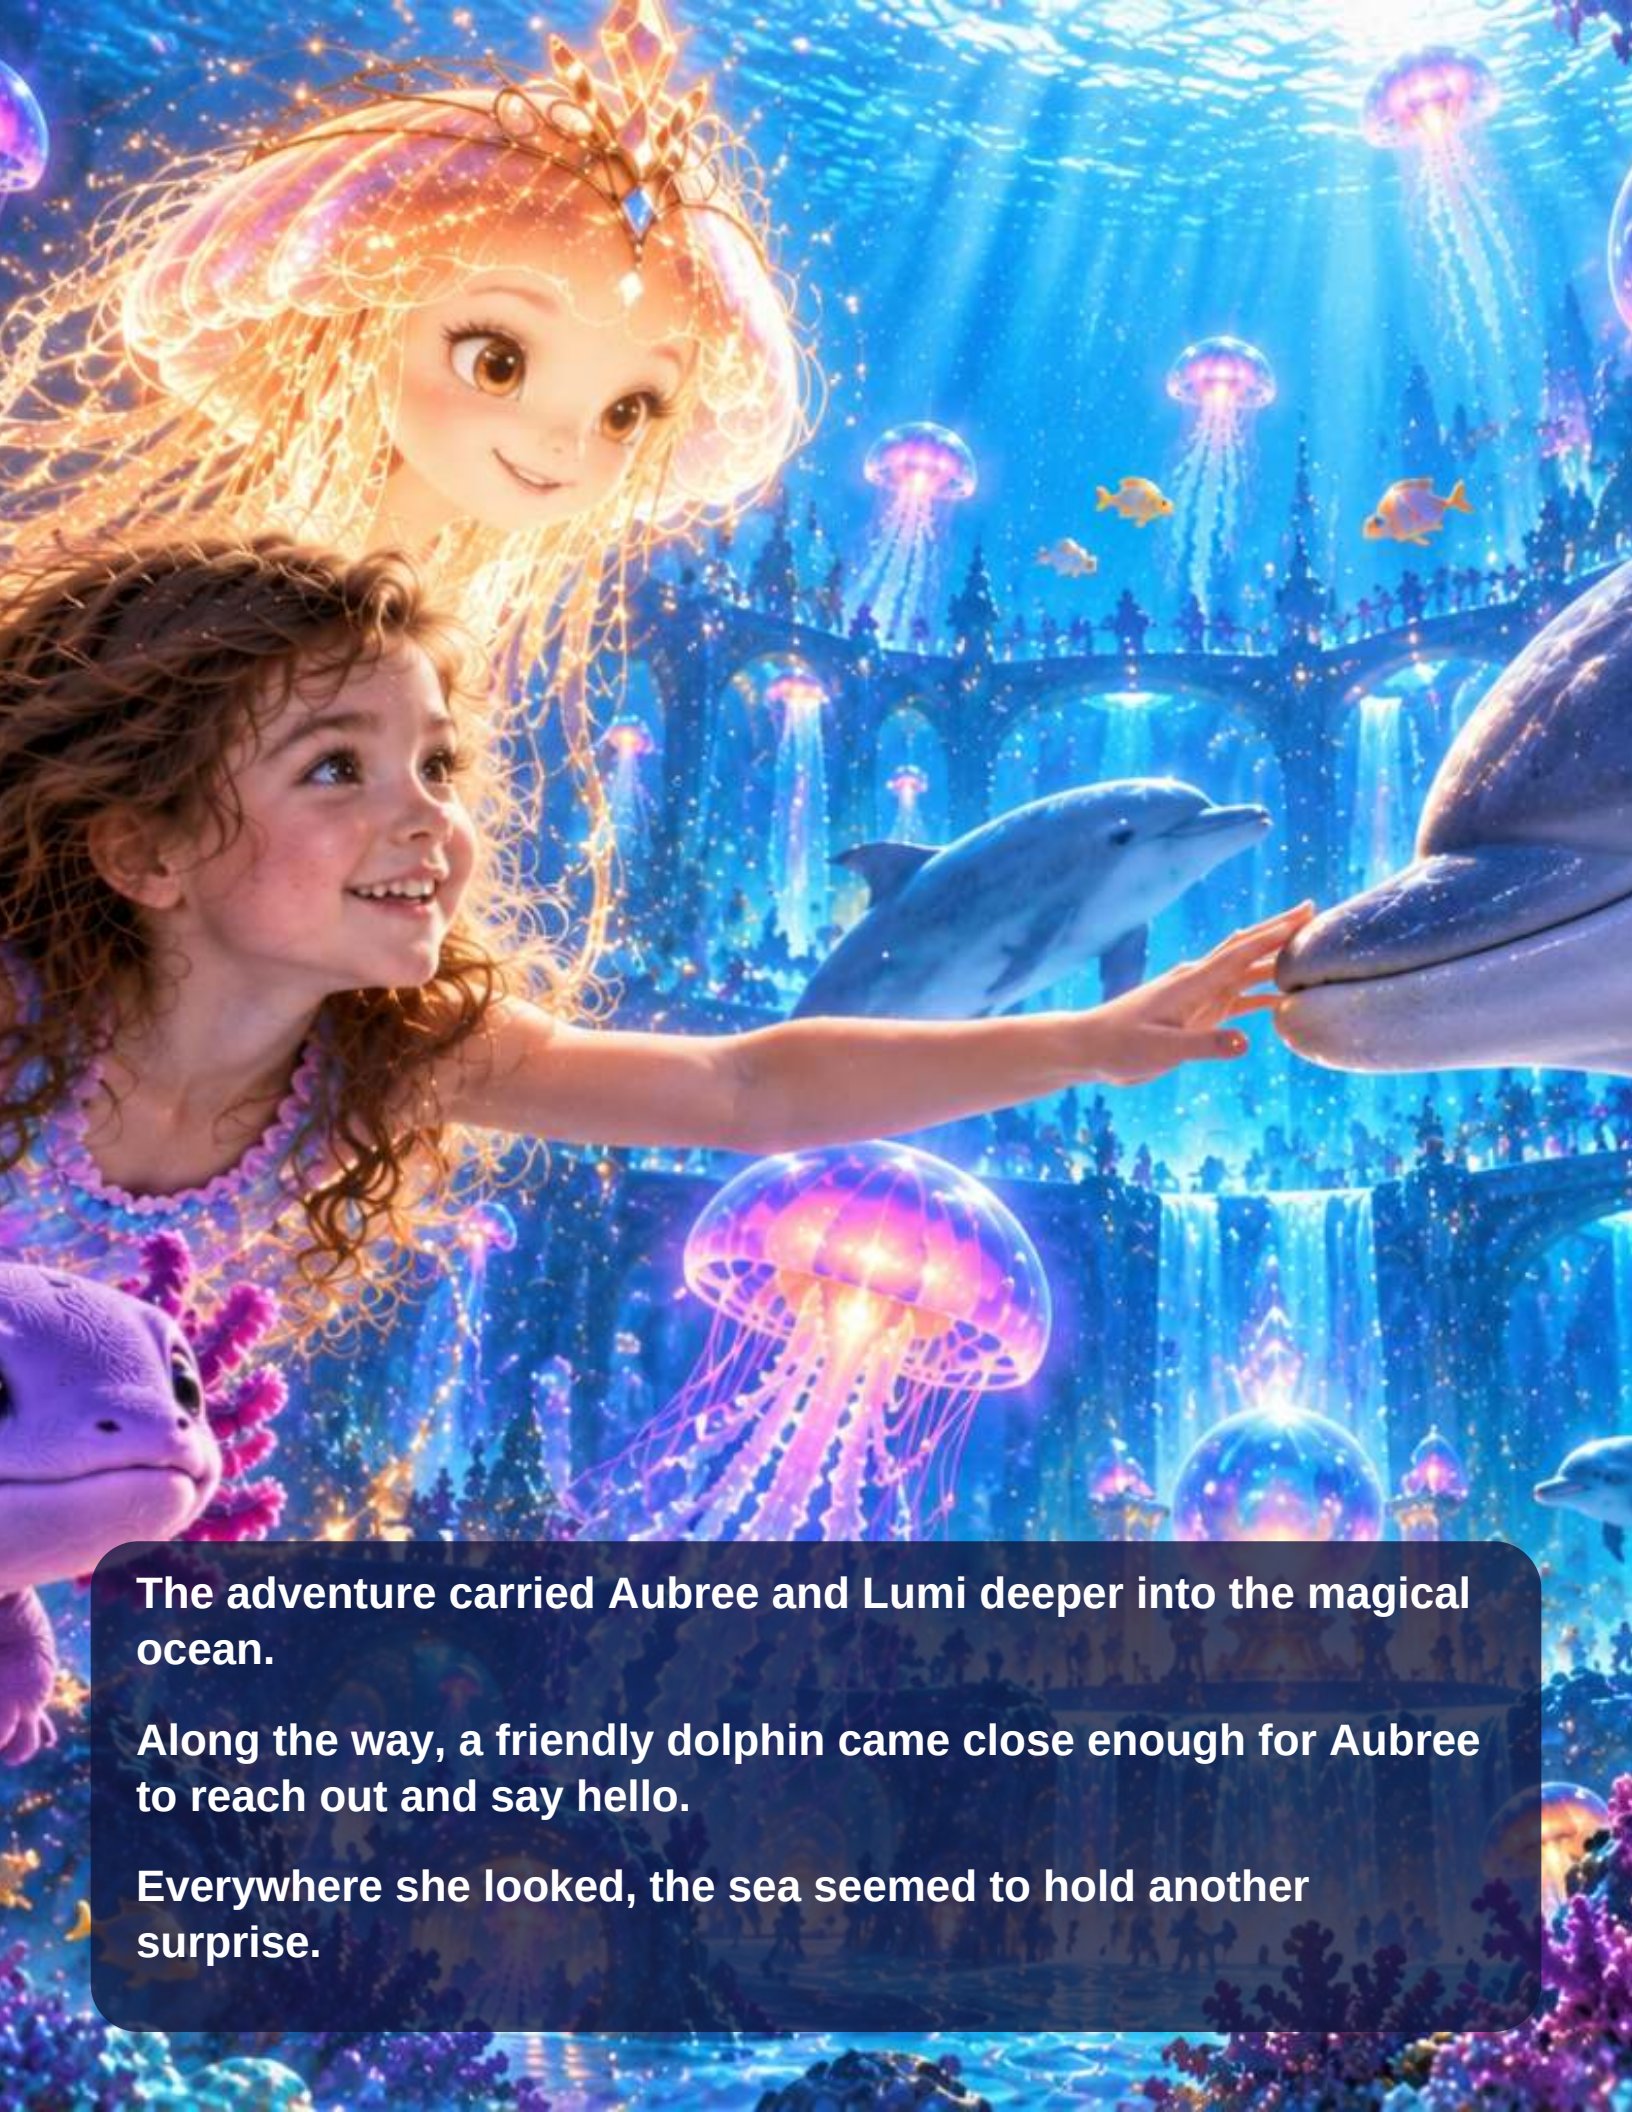

Then, all at once, the jellyfish stopped.

The water became quiet.

From deep inside a glowing tunnel, a soft silver light began to appear.

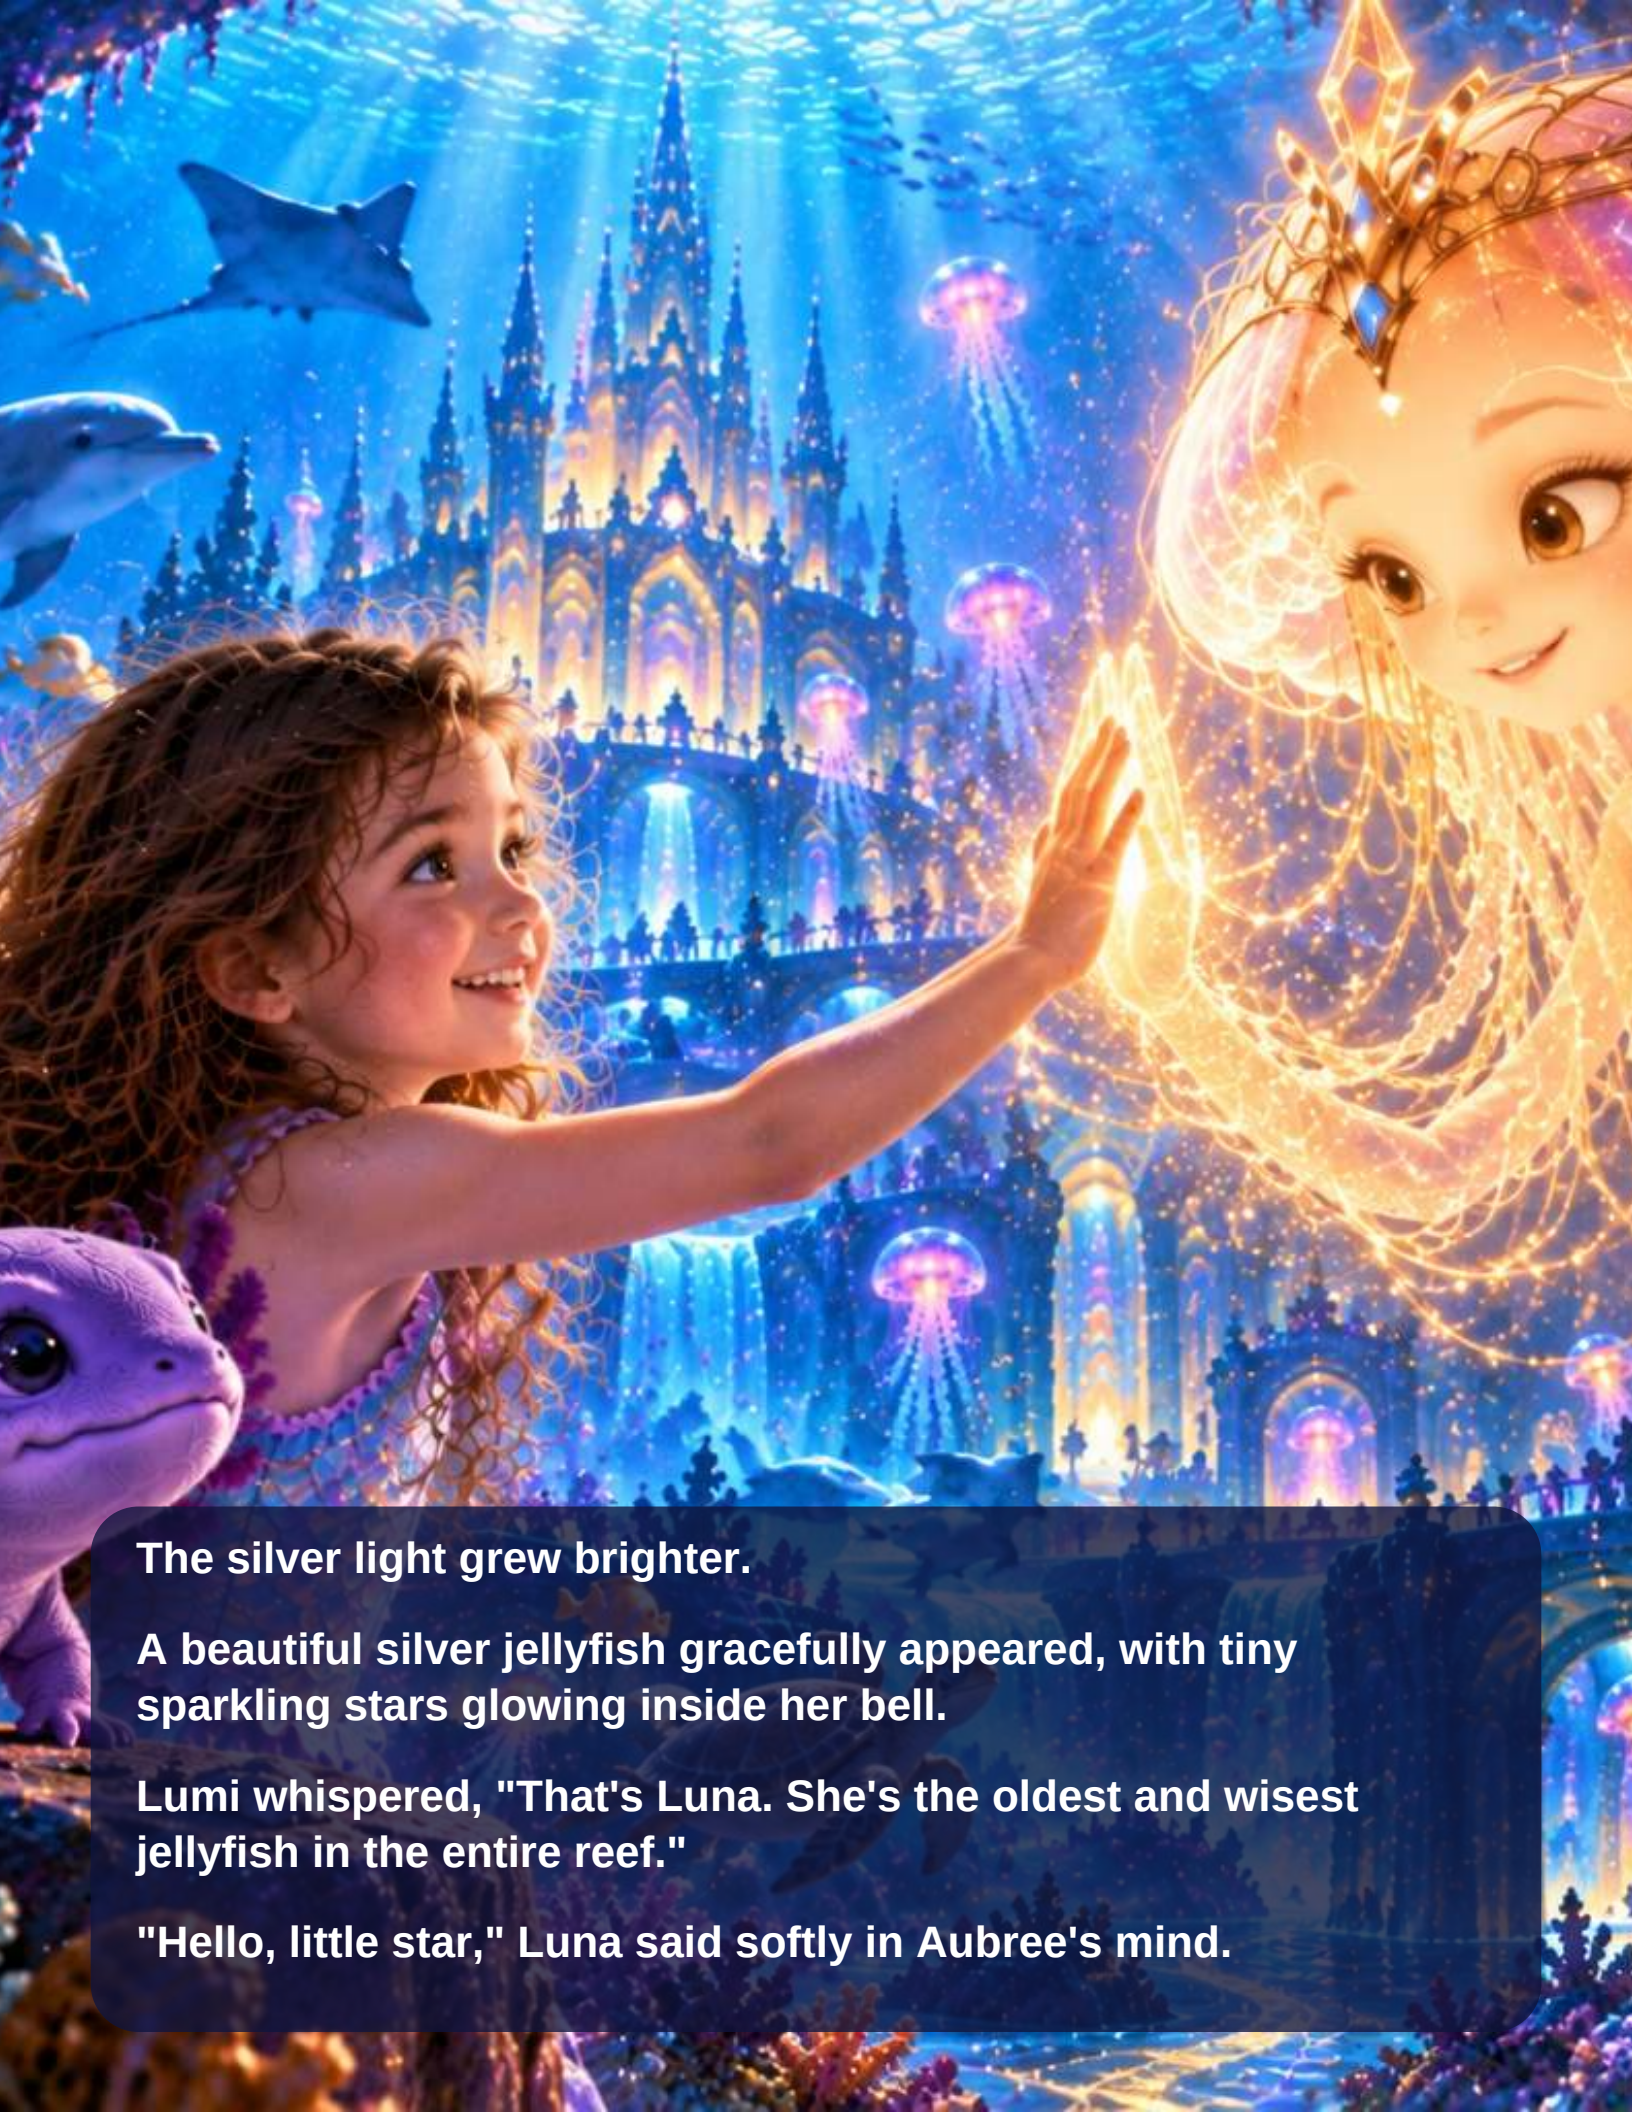

Lumi's eyes went wide. "Oh wow... I think that's the Silver Current!"

The adventure carried Aubree and Lumi deeper into the magical ocean.

Along the way, a friendly dolphin came close enough for Aubree to reach out and say hello.

Everywhere she looked, the sea seemed to hold another surprise.

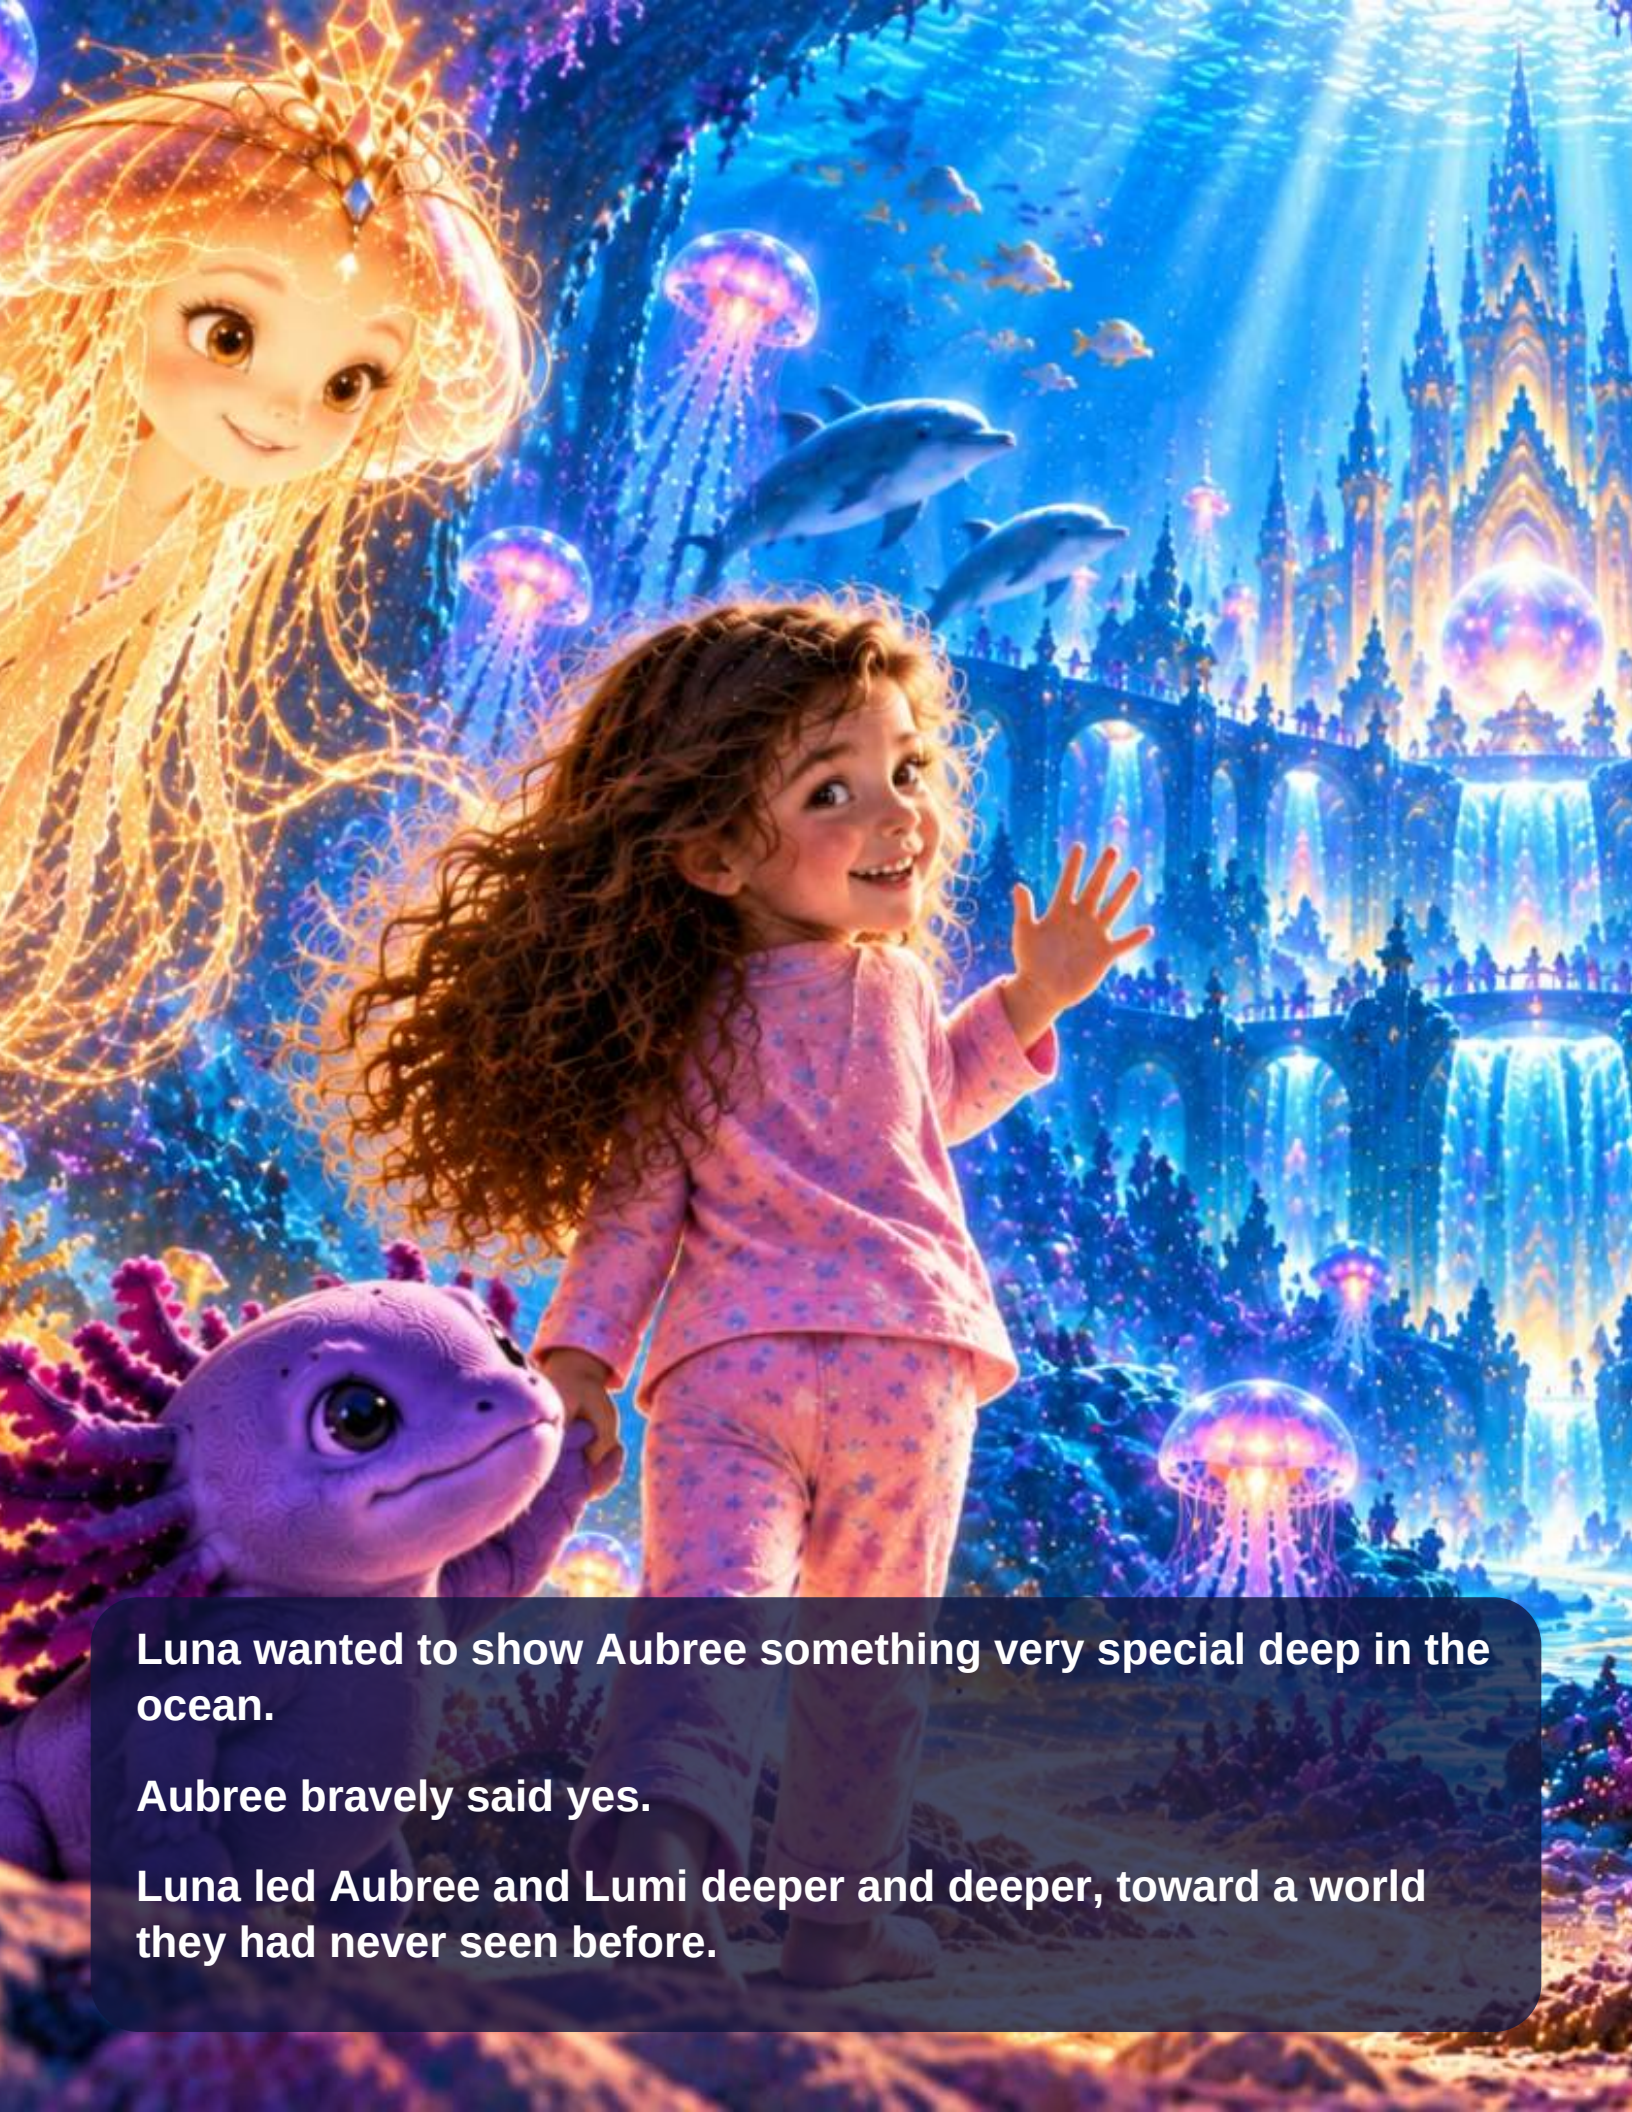

The silver light grew brighter.

A beautiful silver jellyfish gracefully appeared, with tiny sparkling stars glowing inside her bell.

Lumi whispered, "That's Luna. She's the oldest and wisest jellyfish in the entire reef."

"Hello, little star," Luna said softly in Aubree's mind.

Luna wanted to show Aubree something very special deep in the ocean.

Aubree bravely said yes.

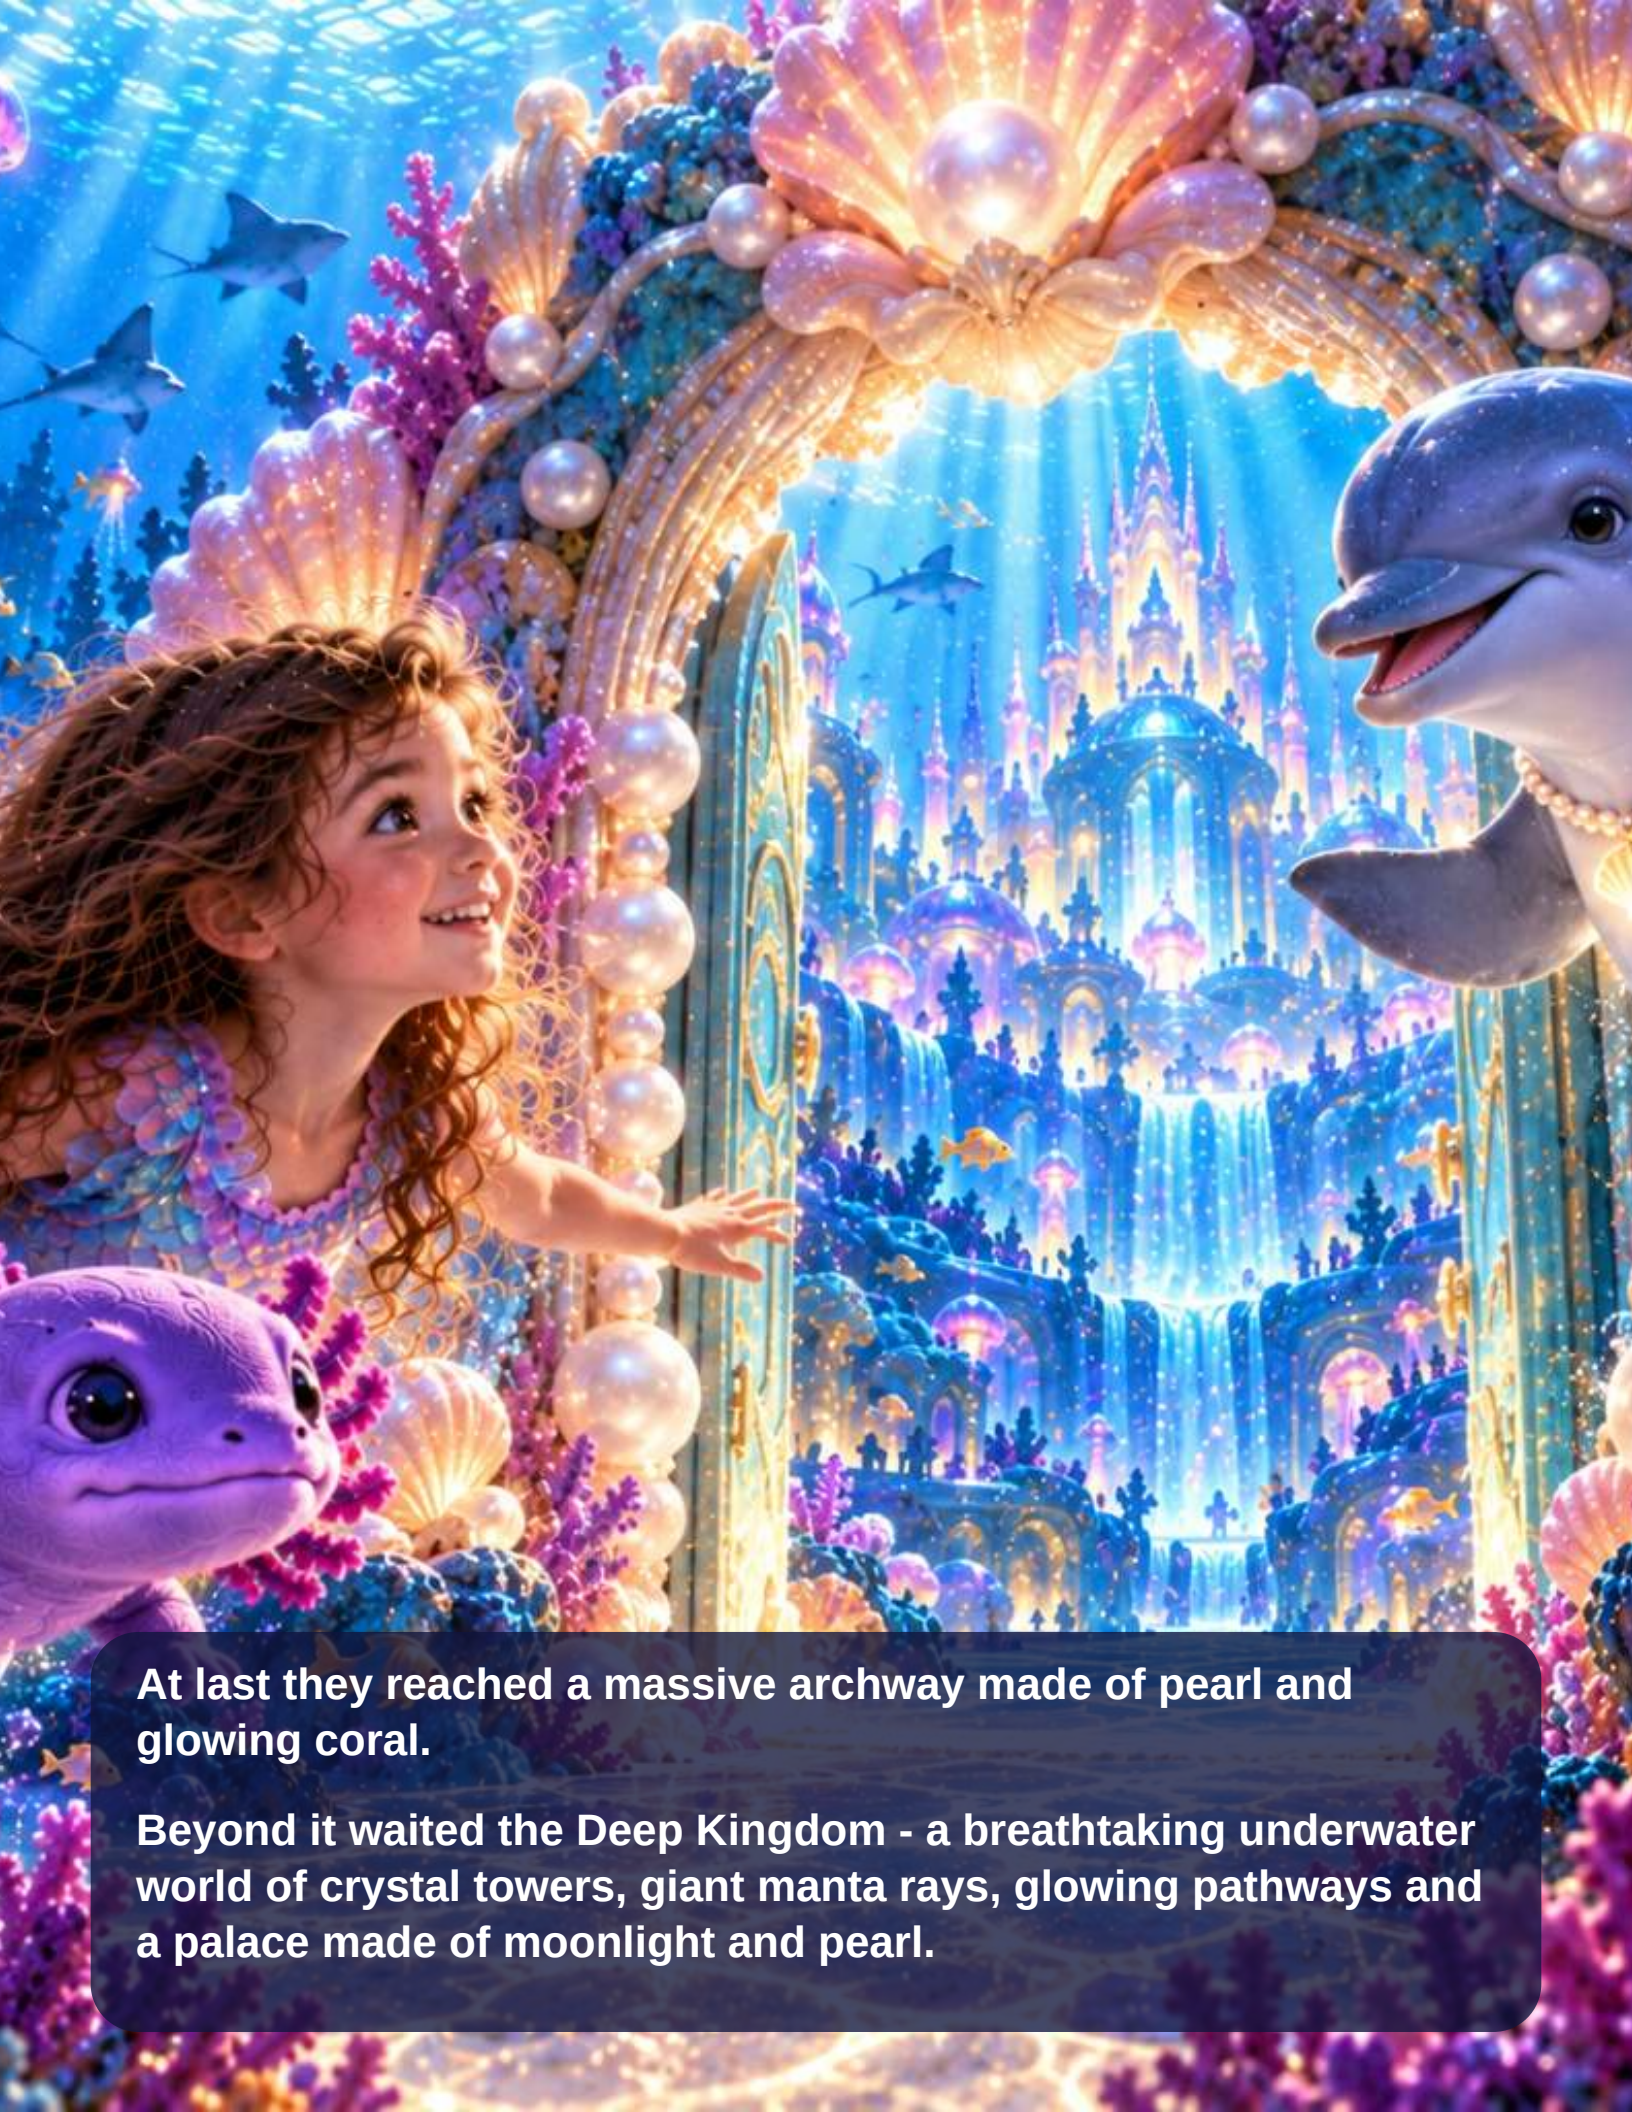

Luna led Aubree and Lumi deeper and deeper, toward a world they had never seen before.

For just a moment, Aubree thought about home - warm blankets, quiet dreams, and all the adventures still waiting for her.

But this adventure wasn't finished yet.

Lumi was beside her, and Aubree was ready to keep going.

At last they reached a massive archway made of pearl and glowing coral.

Beyond it waited the Deep Kingdom - a breathtaking underwater world of crystal towers, giant manta rays, glowing pathways and a palace made of moonlight and pearl.

Everywhere Aubree looked, the Deep Kingdom held another wonder.

Gentle sea creatures guarded glowing treasures, and every pathway seemed to lead toward another secret.

But Luna had someone very special she wanted Aubree to meet.

In a quiet, magical place, Aubree met Lirien - a small, pure white Starlight Jellyfish with rainbow lights moving through her bell.

Lirien gently touched Aubree's cheek.

The two of them became friends right away.

Lirien invited Aubree to her beautiful seashell home.

Inside were glowing pearl walls, floating lanterns and a perfect little sea-glass tea set.

Lirien looked at Aubree with big, hopeful eyes.

She wanted Aubree to stay for a tea party.

Aubree, What Happens Next?

Lirien poured the tea and smiled.

"This is your adventure, Aubree. You get to decide where we go next!"

- Explore the Starlight Caves with Lirien?
- Visit the Moonlight Palace with Luna?
- Search for hidden treasure in the Deep Kingdom?
- Choose more than one adventure?
- Or invent something completely new?

When you've decided, tell Grandpa what you picked - and tell him anything else you think belongs in the story.

Then you and Grandpa can create the next chapter together.

This story isn't over. It's yours now.

The adventure continues...

Created with love for Aubree.
